NJMC RELEASES WINTER/SPRING 2008 EVENT SCHEDULE

Expanded lineup features programming for all ages

LYNDHURST, N.J. – The New Jersey Meadowlands Commission’s environment center has released its Winter/Spring 2008 Schedule of Events, a diverse line-up featuring artistic and environmental activities and workshops for all ages.

“The NJMC’s Meadowlands Environment Center has put together an exciting schedule of events for the coming months that reflects the Commission’s dedication to enriching the lives of area residents,” said Acting NJMC Chairman Joseph V. Doria, also Acting Commissioner of the New Jersey Department of Community Affairs. “The programs offer an excellent opportunity for children, adults, and families to expand their cultural and environmental horizons.”

The NJMC’s Meadowlands Environment Center is operated by Ramapo College of New Jersey. Schedule highlights include a Winter Watercolors class, opportunities to see birds, snakes, spiders and scorpions, a lunar learning session, and a composting workshop. Also on the schedule are a playwriting workshop for budding young bards, the power of “mathmagic,” and an independent film festival. The programs are free or include a nominal charge.

“I encourage everyone to take advantage of the valuable variety of programming offered by the NJMC,” said Robert Ceberio, Executive Director of the NJMC. “The events are an informative and fun way to bring families together and perhaps even spark a lifelong interest among children in animals, the environment, and the arts.”

The schedule is available online at www.njmeadowlands.gov/ec. For more information, call 201-460-8300.
