Flyway Gallery Exhibit to Spotlight NJMC Staff Talent

LYNDHURST, N.J. – The New Jersey Meadowlands Commission will host its annual Staff Art Exhibit from Sept. 2 to Oct. 2 at the Flyway Gallery in the Meadowlands Environment Center. The exhibit features nature photography and watercolors by several NJMC employees.

“We have a very creative staff here at the Commission,” said Robert Ceberio, Executive Director of the NJMC. “This exhibit presents a great opportunity for our employees to share their talents with their colleagues and the public,”

This year’s show includes traditional and abstract landscape portraits and colorful photos of Pink Firecracker Flowers, dragonflies and other plant and animal life captured throughout the Meadowlands District.

“Many of our employees are so inspired by the natural beauty that surrounds them at work that they will stay late or return on weekends to pursue their hobbies,” Ceberio said. “I invite everyone to enjoy the exhibit and discover for themselves the parks, trails and wetlands that make the Meadowlands such a great place to work, live and play.”

The NJMC created the Flyway Gallery to help foster the cultural identity of the 14-town Meadowlands District by providing a space to showcase the talent of local artists. The gallery is open from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday and 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. Saturday and Sunday. Admission is free.
