Employee Artwork on Display at NJMC Flyway Gallery in November

LYNDHURST, N.J. – The New Jersey Meadowlands Commission (NJMC) is hosting its annual Staff Art Exhibit from Nov. 6 through Nov. 29 at the Flyway Gallery in the Meadowlands Environment Center.

The exhibit – which is open daily to the public for free – features nature photography and watercolors by Commission employees. The gallery is open from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday and 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. Saturday and Sunday. It is one of several free attractions at the Meadowlands Environment Center, which is located in DeKorte Park, a 110-acre oasis with walking trails and water views, all framed by the New York City skyline.

“We have a very creative staff here at the Commission,” said Robert Ceberio, Executive Director of the NJMC. “This exhibit presents a great opportunity for our employees to share their talents with their colleagues and the public, and it gives visitors another good excuse to visit our facilities here in Lyndhurst.”

This year’s show includes interesting multi-media works of Meadowlands landmarks by landscape architect Lisa Cameron, who also exhibited with the Highland Park Artists’ Collective this past May. Other exhibitors include Jim Wright, a talented nature photographer who captured nearby marshes and their inhabitants, and Jeniffer Obando, an Environmental Educator whose travel photography includes pictures from Jordan, Puerto Rico and California.

The NJMC created the Flyway Gallery in 2002 to help foster the cultural identity of the 14-town Meadowlands District by providing a space for talented local artists to display their work. For information on the Flyway Gallery exhibit or Meadowlands Environment Center programs, please call (201) 460-8300 or visit www.njmeadowlands.gov/ec.
